Methodology

- The reported results on public attitudes come from a national survey conducted by Greenberg Quinlan Rosner Research (GQR) and Public Opinion Strategies (POS) for National Public Radio (NPR). The firms, together with NPR, developed questions to inform a news segment for Morning Edition.
- With a view to the upcoming elections, the survey was conducted with likely voters. All participants were registered voters, voted in the 2000 presidential election or the 2002 congressional elections (or were not eligible) and indicated they were almost certain or certain to vote in 2004. The sample of potential respondents was generated by random digit dial methodology. GQR interviewed 800 voters, with a margin of error of +/- 3.5 percent.
